IS IT KID CARROLL?

The St. Louis Police Suspect That He Is Wanted There for Murder.

But Marshal Collins Thinks They Are On the Wrong
Trail.

"Kid" Carroll is wanted on a charge of murder in St. Louis. Carroll, or a man going by that name, was only a few weeks ago sent to Edinville to serve one year for grand larceny. He was charged with being a member of the Frank gang of shoplifters, and got off with the lightest sentence of any tried, the other two getting three years each.

Carroll, the real Carroll, is charged with the murder of Chris Masterson, who kept a saloon on Elm street in St. Louis in 1895. On the night of April 29th, Masterson discovered a man in his saloon tapping the till. He attempted to capture the thief, but the latter drew a gas pipe and struck the saloon keeper on the head with it. His skull was split open and he died the next day. It was known then that Carroll was the murderer, but it is claimed that Chief of Police Harrigan, of St. Louis, who was an intimate friend of Carroll's father, Chauncey Carroll, keeper of the warehouse, did not desire to catch him.

Carroll escaped, but was shot by the police, and a wound was troubling the man when he was arrested here, and he was at one time discharged from jail on the recommendation of the county physician and would have made his escape had it not been for Marshal Collins, who caught him while he was preparing to take his departure on a freight train at the "Y."

When Carroll left St. Louis, he went to Cairo, Ill., where he was hotly pursued by the chief there. He went to Cairo on a shanty boat, and when he left there came to Paducah. Here Detective Wickliffe got on his trail, it is said, being told by the chief at Cairo that there was a reward of $125 for his arrest. He wrote Chief Harrigan but received no reply. It is supposed that the chief did not want Carroll caught.

Marshal Collins received two telegrams from Chief Campbell, of St. Louis, last night, but he does not believe that the man in the penitentiary is the right one. It is said that the real name of the man who goes by the name of Carroll, and who is now in the Edinville penitentiary, is Haley. This being the case, the St. Louis police and papers are on the wrong trail. It is not likely that a man wanted so near for murder would be going by his right name, and for this reason the chief's name is likely not Carroll, but this is probably just one he has assumed.

DOG TAGS.

It has always been contended that there were hundreds of dogs in Paducah that were never taxed. This year the entire number of tags bought by the city have been used, and the city today had to telegraph for more in order to supply the demand. This is because the war has been vigorously prosecuted all over the city, and everybody who has a dog knows it is economy to pay the tax, for the tax saves a fine.

While it is believed the Porto Rico army will also be larger than heretofore contemplated. It is believed the third call will be for 100,000 men.

AMERICAN ARMY OFF SANTIAGO.

Sampson and Shafter Discuss the Place of Landing—Will Probably Be Near Santiago.

EMBARKATION WILL BE RAPID.

Spanish Prisoners Arrive at New York—The Yale and Harvard
Will Carry Supplies to the Fleet at Santiago.

OTHER MOVEMENTS OF OUR SHIPS.

New York, June 21.—A World's Washington special says:—The government has been advised by the Guantanamo cable that the landing of the troops began today covered by a brisk fire from the ships.

Off Santiago, June 20.—The transports bearing General Shafter's army of invasion arrived here at ten o'clock today (Monday). Admiral Sampson and General Shafter are now together discussing a landing place. The place will be ten miles above or about ten miles below Santiago, or at Guantanamo, which is forty miles from Santiago.

As the roads in Cuba are but little more than paths, it is probable that the landing will be made as near Santiago as possible.

When the disembarkation takes place it will be accomplished more quickly than the embarkation, as all the transports can be unloaded at the same time.

The voyage of the army from Tampa was uneventful. A few cases of measles and about a dozen cases of typhoid fever have been reported. The soldiers are in high spirits, and are anxious for the embarkation to begin.

M'KINLEY KNOWS IT.

Washington, June 21.—It is rumored at the war department that the president has been notified of Gen. Shafter's arrival off Santiago with his army.

The Gas Company Taking Them Down—A Good Improvement.

The mail boxes that have ever since mail boxes began to be used in Paducah adorned the lamp-posts, will now all have to be taken down. In fact many of them have already been taken down.

The occasion of this is that the Gas Co., has sold its lamp-posts, and they will all be removed. There are about three hundred in the city, but only about 75 mail boxes have been attached to them. The boxes will all be placed on the city's electric light poles.

Mr. R. G. Caldwell is in receipt of a letter from Chief Surgeon Frank Boyd in regard to a regimental flag. Several weeks ago the advisability of getting one was brought up in several cities from which companies were enlisted in the Third Kentucky, and each city was asked to raise a donation of $50 or $100 to pay for it. It is now desired to secure one for the Third regiment, which went into the service without one, and Surgeon Boyd offers to start the subscription by donating $300 due him for examining recruits here.

Marshal LaRue on a charge of illicit whiskey selling at Hickman, and brought here for trial, being held to answer, was released from the county jail last evening, having been liberated in pursuance of government orders. The release was made at the request of her attorney, Judge Campbell, and upon recommendation of the county physician, because she is about to become a mother.

The woman is now under indictment at Hickman on several charges for violation of the internal revenue laws, and will likely go to Cairo and never return. Her husband, Jerry Freeman, is now in jail here for similar offenses. The government had a sure case against her.

Henry Meyers Lived Here for Years—Now at the Head of the War Department.

Perhaps few people know that a Paducah boy is now at the head of the war department of Hawaii, with headquarters at Honolulu. He is Henry Meyers, and lived here for many years, at the old Myers home, being on South Third street, near Tennessee.

In 1871 he and a young man, named Monroe, at the advice and suggestion of Dr. J. G. Brooks, left Paducah to seek their fortunes in the Sandwich Islands. They went there and embarked in the sugar business, but after several years failed in business and Mr. Meyers, who always had a penchant for military life, went into the army as chief of staff. His failure in the sugar business is ascribed to his lack of interest in the work, and to the fact that his plantation was situated upon the mountain where it required two years instead of one to raise a crop. Part of the plantation he and his partner owns is now a portion of the vast possessions of Claus Spreckles.

The two men returned to America in or about 1890, and Monroe jumped into the lake near Los Angeles and was drowned. Meyers came on to Paducah, and was bookkeeper for Dreyfuss & Weil for a short time. After several months here, however, he longed for the old life, and returned to Honolulu. A few years ago he was heard of as chief of staff of President Dole, and now he is at the head of the war department there, the most prominent military position on the island.

His step-mother, a well known lady, still lives here, and is quite well known.

RECRUITS HERE.

Army Officers Here to get Recruits for the Army.

Capt. R. S. Murphy and Lieut. Geo. L. Shelton, of the Second Tennessee volunteers, arrived this morning and took rooms at the Palmer hotel. They are here to enlist recruits for the regular army.

Capt. Murphy and Lieut. Shelton are both former residents of Paducah, the former having been with Thompson & Wilson & Co., of the city, but lived a long time in Fulton. Lieut. Shelton lived here up to 1890. Capt. Murphy lost his left arm, and was admitted to the regular service by act of congress two months ago, and is in the recruiting department.

Lieut. Shelton went down to Metropolis this morning to get recruits, but will likely return this afternoon. The officers expect to remain here three or four days.

Porons glass is one of the latest novelties. The holes are so small that neither dust nor draught follows its use, and yet the ventilation is said to be excellent.

Black has issued, for instance, no less than 200 varieties. The administration of this highly inflated spot commission, in 1887, of a governor and eight functionaries. The capital is a village of huts. The issue of needless varieties has even proved of considerable profit to some of our own possessions. Here is a curiosity. Guatemala in 1886 accepted the offer of a certain engineer to provide, free of charge, 2,000,000 postage stamps of a new design, on the understanding that the whole of the old issues should be handed over to him. The credit for originating this kind of dealing seems, however, to be due to the secretary of an engraving company. He binds himself for a period of ten years to supply yearly, free of charge, postage stamps to the different governments of South and Central America, as they may be required, or at least demanded, on condition that each yearly series differs in design. In return, the particular government undertakes to cede to the company any surplus stock that may remain in its possession at the end of the year, the company retaining the dies and plates for the production of such stamps as it may think fit to issue for any but postal purposes. It is necessary to point out that the collector cannot neglect any examples? To give one other instance, we may mention the issue of stamps of seven values by Hadden Hickey, who styled himself "Prince James I." and claimed sovereignty over the island of Trinidad, in the South Atlantic. The island does not possess a single human inhabitant, and is almost inaccessible, being nothing more than a rugged rock, the home of gulls only. —London Daily News.

Saved for the Last Lap.

A lady engaged a cab to convey her to the station, and urged the cabby to drive fast, as her time was limited. After proceeding a quarter of a mile at a furious pace, the passenger warned the cabby to slow down, as she should lose her train. He did so, but the speed soon subsided to the original pace. Again the lady remonstrated, saying:

"Can't you whip your horse on some tender part to wake him up a bit?"

The lady looked at her a moment, and replied, solemnly: "Well, miss, I've hit the tender part all over his body, except his left ear, and I've kept it that for the last ten years." —Tit-Bits.

Tender-Hearted Butcher.

"It must have been a very tender-hearted butcher who was killing this lamb," said the Cheever child, passing in the sawing of his chop.

"Why?" kindly asked the shoe clerk.

"He must have hesitated three or four years before striking the fatal blow." —London Liberal.

AN AFRICAN PRISON.

The inmates move it bodily to the bar and have their drinks.

Among some amusing anecdotes of his life in South Africa, Robert Ganthony, the author, tells the following:

"One warm day I discarded my waistcoat and was off with my sketch-book and camera in search of copy, when a man stopped me and said: 'Hallo, Ganthony, how are you?' He was a perfect stranger, so I said: 'How did you know my name was Ganthony?' 'Well,' he replied, 'you have Ganthony written on your shirt, and as you look like a gentleman, I don't suppose you would wear anyone else's.' As he left smiling I had a dim consciousness that I had been pelted with a chestnut." On another occasion, while watching the corrugated iron prison at Johannesburg, he found after awhile that the prison had moved. Being naturally somewhat surprised, he awaited the denouement, and discovered that the prisoners inside were lifting it, and moving it towards a whisky bar a little way off. When they got near enough they had their drinks through the little window, and then moved the prison back again to the former spot. When the governor heard of it he said: "Not a bad idea! I can make those fellows mend the road now," which they do, the portion under repair being also under the roof of the prison. —Los Angeles Herald.
